Life Drawing, short pose, "Oksana" by Peter Cusack

I'm a thoughtful teacher that recognizes and realizes individual talent. I don't teach methods although I offer various methods, techniques, and teach a variety of media. My specialty is teaching people. My goal is to teach students to teach themselves, as well as find their own sense of creativity. My style is not academic, but an open approach that serves both traditional skills and individual creativity. My classes are balanced, supportive environments designed for students to reach their goals. Please contact me with any questions at
